System of Course Descriptions

Courses of study and their descriptions are arranged according to course numbers within their departments.

The following classification system identifies a course as freshman, sophomore, junior or senior level. Freshman and sophomore courses are in the lower division; junior and senior courses are in the upper division.

The course value in semester credits is indicated within parentheses after the course title.

Course Numbering System

- Courses numbered 01-99
designate preparation courses not applicable to degree credit.
- Courses numbered 100-199
are usually taken by freshman students.
- Courses numbered 200-299
are usually taken by sophomores.
- Courses numbered 300-499
are upper division courses normally taken by juniors and seniors. A freshman or sophomore may take upper division courses with consent of the instructor.
- Courses numbered 500-599
are graduate level courses.
- Courses numbered 600-799
are doctoral level courses.
- Courses numbered 800-899
are professional development
- Courses numbered 900-999
are Continuing Education Units (CEU).
- Teaching Credential: Contact the School of Education or the appropriate department adviser for a complete list of courses needed to fulfill subject matter requirements for a Multiple Subject or Single Subject Credential.
